

Keith Christensen is a lifelong Staten Islander whose family has resided there since 1906. Continuously active in the community since his youth, Keith has held numerous leadership positions in philanthropic, fraternal, civic and business groups. They include but are not limited to; being past President of the Richmond County Bankers' Association, past Treasurer of the Community Bankers' Association of New York Group IV, V, VI, past Master of Huguenot Lodge Free and Accepted Masons, past Director of the Alzheimer's Foundation of Staten Island and past Director of the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, current Director of the West Brighton Community Local Development Corporation. He is a life member of the National Eagle Scout Association.

Keith is an Assistant Vice President and Regional Business Banker for New York Community Bank. He began his banking career in 1995 when he joined Richmond County Savings Bank. Throughout his profession Keith has held various positions of increasing responsibility both in the branch network and in back office operations and administration.

Keith holds a Bachelors degree from Adelphi University and is pursuing his Masters degree at the College of Staten Island. He is a chapter-charter member and a life member of the Phi Alpha Theta National Honor Society.

An avid Staten Island historian and nature enthusiast, Keith enjoys spending time reading about these subjects. He also likes to spend time in the rural setting of the family's farm located in Montgomery County, New York. Keith is married to Tammy Lee Christensen. They have a toddler daughter, Astrid Jolie and an infant son Haakon Johannes. They reside in Castleton Corners, Staten Island.